BELOVED COLLEGIAN OF ST. STANISLAUS DIES RESULT OF RAZOR CUT

Carlos Garcia, Scion of Rich and Aristocratic Family, of Mexico City, Victim of Blood Poisoning From Cut While Shaving—Remains Taken Home.

Before sin could have stained his soul, before worry could have tortured his mind, before sorrows could have broken his noble heart, Carlos Garcia, popular St. Stanislaus College student, surrendered his bright soul back to his Maker. An excellent student, he was ever cheerful, and his life was a long time. Faithful to every scholastic and spiritual duty, with a golden heart full of Heaven's happiness, Carlos easily won the abiding respect and affection of all the other happy boys on the campus; and somehow as with a presage of early death, he "allured" to brighter worlds and lead the way. In the darkening shadows of death in conscious virtue brave, he was ever cheerful. Strangely resigned to his fate, he met his Maker with a smile, and without sigh or groan unflinchingly. Every morning he received the Most Holy Communion with extraordinary devotion and edified all by his quiet yet firm piety and good cheer; despite his terrible physical sufferings. The Rev. Brother William, president of St. Stanislaus, was daily, hourly, at the bedside of his ward and watched his gradual passing with deep sorrow, yet was edified greatly to see one of his charges, so beloved of all the Brothers, going to meet his Savior and his God like a happy school boy going home. Carlos has just gone home to his everlasting home, and his good teachers and his heart-sorrowed colleagues in study hall and campus are so sad that Carlos is not gone from them all together for in him they have, one and all, henceforth, a great friend and advocate in Heaven.

Carlos Garcia was a native of Mexico, and died Sunday morning as a result of blood poisoning at the Mercy Hospital. He was taken care of spiritually by the Very Rev. Father Walter Burns, S. J. Chaplain and attended by five or six physicians under the direction of Dr. Nix. His mother, Mrs. Garcia, was at his bedside, and his father, who is a broken leg could not come. Widespread sympathy goes out lavishly to the parents and friends of this excellent young man, in their sad bereavement in having lost, at least temporarily, one so near and dear to them. Many spiritual bouquets are being offered by his many friends for the repose of his good soul.

The mortal remains of Genaro Carlos Garcia were taken to Mexico City on Tuesday via the Southern Pacific for interment. May the green sward of country rest lightly on his gentle heart and may the warm soil of his homeland caress the noble frame that was the human habitation of a noble and Mexican soul.

Genaro Carlos Garcia was the son of wealthy aristocratic parents of Mexico City, his father is Signor Jesus Mario Garcia and Mother is Signora Carlota Collantes Garcia, and brother Antonio, sisters Carlota and Victoria.

Supplementary to this writing are the interesting facts that an uncle of the deceased youth was a close personal friend of the latest Jesuit Martyr, the young Father Miguel Pro who was executed by a firing squad in Mexico a few years ago and who died with a laughing "Pro Christo on his lips." The writer of these lines possesses an authentic photo of Father Pro after he got the coup-de-grace, with a blood washed face and a smile on his cold dead face. When Mr. Garcia was executed for his Catholic sympathies his torturers mutilated his body, cut off both ears and having scratched vulgar words thereon had the dismembered parts sent to his family. —N. Williams, Mrs. Garcia and an older son, who had flown from Mexico a week previously.

THE GREAT JASPER.

At the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday, March 26-27.

Cast: Richard Dix, Florence Eldridge, Wera Engels, Walter Walker, Edna May Oliver and others.

Directed by Walter Ruben.

One of the chief attributes of this film is the introduction to American audiences of Wera Engels, blonde German starlet, who turns in an excellent performance in her debut. Dix is the old reliable and repeats his performance of "The Gangster."

Like that film, this picture takes him from youth through middle age and to his death. Florence Eldridge, who in private life is the wife of Fredric March, turns in a capital performance and is sure to be talked about. There is a good deal of fun in it, especially when Dix uses his tag line "Begin your pardon in advance."

He is cast as an Irishman and pictures of him in his 1898 outfit with that line underneath ought surely to be enticing. Edna May Oliver although on the screen but a short time, gets a good share of laughs, as usual.

"PAT" AND "BILL."

OF Mississippi representatives in Congress none have stood more steadfastly and consistently by our President than Senator "Pat" Harrison and Congressman "Bill" Colmer, both from the Mississippi Gulf Coast. And how proud we are to claim them as residents of this section!

Senator Harrison, chairman of the all-powerful Finance Committee, has stood by the president to the very letter. He voted "yea" for every measure introduced to palliate or cure the evil of this time—depression, calling for emergency action, as if we were at war, and down to the revenue-producing bill, when it is well-known Pat has always voted with the prohis. But times change and so do men. It is to their credit. Senator Harrison voted true to conviction. He was of the opinion that such measure would bring the desired revenues to help balance the budget and produce work for hundreds of thousands of men over the country and start the wheels rolling again of industries representing millions of dollars in tied-up investments, and so it is he voted accordingly, and—supported the President.

Congressman Colmer was the only congressman from Mississippi to vote for the beer revenue bill. No doubt he will be condemned in other parts of the State, but Bill, like "Pat," has gotten away from the old stereotype formulae of vote-getting, voting machine like along certain conventionalities in order to receive the plaudits from the voters back home. In times of stress we must rise high above prejudice, fanaticism and principles which too often are coined into gold. It takes brave men to do this. Senator Stephens might be a big man in the eyes of those who subscribe to the ideals of prohibition, but in a time of stress it will be found that he has been weighed and found wanting. We do not condemn him for his convictions but many are of the opinion that like other representatives, from Mississippi, he was not equal to the occasion.

DIRTY LITERATURE.

THERE is considerable room for improvement in many phases of human activity, as conducted within recent years, but hardly any field more than contemporary "literature," as all of it, the good and the bad, is called. Reverend Francis Talbot, a Catholic priest, recently attacked the present tendency, saying:

"But they are enveloped in such a sanctimonious sincerity, they are sprinkled with such medical jargon, they so profess to be written for only the sadly married, that they preclude any action against them."

"Another class that slyly evades attack, despite indecencies, are quasi-humorous outlines of indecencies through the ages."

"And still another are the amatory curiosities, privately printed, for mature readers and collectors' types of obscene volumes."

"With these may be classed the unexpurgated editions of the classical smut books, the Boccaccios and Rabelaisians. In regard to these, it may be noted that ordinarily, they are not on lists of the drug-store lending libraries."

"In this group would be placed 'Ann Vickers' of Sinclair Lewis and those by Hemingway, Faulkner, and their ilk. These novels are vicious in their depths, whereas the others are plainly erotic on their surface; these perfume sin and garb it in rainbows, but the others make it bestial and leave it revolting. These are cleverly written, with firm technique and sophisticated style and intelligence, while the others are composed by back-room writers who have graduated with difficulty, one judges, from the grammar-school."

"Against these clever books, no legal weapon has been effective. They are uppersart art, they are modern masterpieces, they transcend medieval morality. A word against them is a sin against literature, culture, and civilization. Ten times one hundred artists will so assure you, and the District Attorney also, and the judge and jury, and the newspapers, and the magazines, and the whole world. One hundred times a hundred critics will rave against the critic with a moral sense who strips off the art and the literary pretension and shows the crawling vermin beneath."

Economy in government is a necessity. The same principle is applicable to citizens.

OUR NEW PRESIDENT ACCOMPLISHES.

PRESIDENT Roosevelt is undoubtedly the man of the hour. Political partisans in Congress work in support of his policies side by side. The idea is, as expressed by some in power who might think and do differently, voice the one unanimous sentiment, "We are standing by our President."

No better lesson than this in reference to the unity of forces for accomplishment.

President Roosevelt's campaign pledges are carried out to the very letter, possibly with a slight variation in some instances, but not in the main. He promised much. Subsequently much is expected of him. And he is not failing in doing. His first few days in office represent what others might have accomplished in years. The Biloxi News well expresses the high lights of the first eleven days of his incumbency in the presidency:

The cabinet officers were sworn in and the cabinet organized before he had been in office ten hours.

The declaration of a nation-wide bankers' holiday, which brought about a much needed bankers' housecleaning and resulted in making our banking system as a whole secure, stemming the tide of unnecessary losses to depositors.

The passage of a new banking bill making banking safer and the peoples' money secure.

Stopping the gold raids on the United States treasury.

Compelling gold raiders and hoarders to return their gold to the banks, thus conserving the metallic monetary base which is the foundation of our whole monetary structure.

Bringing about the reopening of our banks with sufficient currency backing to insure their normal functioning.

Bringing about the passage of what is known as the Economy bill, whereby an annual reduction of nearly a billion dollars in Federal expenditure will be effected.

Bringing about the enactment of the BEER bill, legalizing beer as a beverage, thereby establishing an old industry which will employ several hundred thousand people and put hundreds of millions of dollars into circulation.

Enactment of the Farm Relief Bill, which will enable Farmers to function on a profitable basis.

AN INFORMATIVE PRESS.

SINCE Bay St. Louis has been referred to time and again as a suburb to New Orleans, and due to our close proximity to that city, it is no wonder that, after taking our own home press, and wishing a daily newspaper, we subscribe in the main to the New Orleans newspapers.

It is a well known fact newspapers have been hit hardest by depression. They, in advertising patronage, have suffered most. No newspaper is now getting fifty per cent of its former patronage. Not because it is withheld for a motive but because business does not exist. Yet the press, New Orleans in particular, has kept its high standard of telegraphic and local news, sports, the feminine-interest page and other features.

To collect news is costly. It must, after the data is collected, be written by trained and best minds, edited, type-set then printed, to say nothing of the many minor ramifications incidental thereto. The lay public has no idea of the cost of getting out of a newspaper, even figured alone in cold dollars and cents. Our New Orleans newspapers are of the best. Edited and published from a high plane, not losing sight of completeness and variety. Take any New Orleans morning or afternoon newspaper and the world's news is practically at hand, the latest and most authentic reports. The ink hardly dried when an occurrence or event has only a few moments since taken place in some distant locality.

It is marvelous to contemplate. The newspaper, we fear, is too lightly regarded, aside from its tremendous influence. It is possibly the biggest thing that comes into one's daily life and yet perhaps the least appreciated from a sense of realization.

We need not name the New Orleans newspapers. Each is outstanding in its individual or respective merits.

We might not agree or subscribe in part or toto with the editorial policy of a newspaper but we must be honest by giving credit for the service it renders, always prompt and accurate; make-up arrangement, quality and at so little cost to the subscriber.

STRIVING FOR THE JUST DEAL.

TO CRITICISE any administration, whether it be State, county or city, would in a measure be thoughtless when we consider how the income of municipalities and counties, especially, have shrunk to a point where there is little or no money by which to operate.

The truth is we are expecting more from our executives and officers and paying less. They must go through trying times under abnormal income and how it is passeth understanding.

It is well that citizens do co-operate and applaud men in public service. It is no time for unthinking criticism and causing political distrust. No time to make political capital out of circumstance or misfortune.

By observation it is noted that the public is receiving double service for single price; not only more work for less money but under the harassing conditions.

It is an indication of mediocrity to criticize in idle antagonism. A superior mind of course is the kind that criticizes constructively. However, seeking no praise for any one, no palliation for apparent failures but believing to be just to be true and fair to everyone, it is well to realize that those who are serving the public with every contrivance of the present are well high heroes, if nothing else. The Echo has always striven for the just deal.

Whenever you hear of a get rich quick proposition just remember that you are not the only fellow in the land and that, if all was represented, the project would be overwhelmed with applicants.

SAUNTERINGS. From Where The West Begins.

SPRINGTIME has arrived. Monday, March 20th marked the first day of Spring, according to the calendar. But old man winter refused to relinquish control in favor of the newly-elet season without some display of his waning strength. A mild norther' on Sunday cautioned San Antonians that winter may still hold an ace up his sleeve before finally going into exile during the warmer seasons.

Unmindful of defiance from her gruff predecessor, Princess Springtime will successfully carry on the joyous program she has in store for Mother Earth. Already lawns, fields and hillsides are changing colors of their spreading carpets from sombre browns to bright and cheerful hues of green. Fruit trees have burst blossoming and quite a time past. Huisache and hackberry trees are bedecked in new leaf finery. The mesquite tree, usually last to clothe its naked limbs, is showing signs of budding—likewise heralding the awakening of spring.

CACTUS plants are sending forth tiny, new sprouts. A few weeks hence, they will present a mass of brilliant waxen flowers of varied hues; pink, purple, red, yellow, orchid, cerise, and many other colors and delicate tints, according to specie.

Songbirds serenade the golden rays of the rising sun with joyful chirps of wildwood melodies. This is the season of year when nature's watchword spells love and romance. The sweet-scented breath of spring is in the air. Let everyone take new courage, brighter hopes, and sincere faith... the Creator has given to all creatures of the earth a new lease on life.

FROM California friends today came a picture folder depicting ghastly ruins left in the wake of an earthquake that struck Long Beach and vicinity at 5:55 P. M. on March 10th.

It is reported that there were over 100 distinct shocks of diminishing intensity. The majority of casualties and property damage were caused by the initial shock, which was accompanied by a terrifying roar, according to reports.

The sad scenes of destruction presented in the pictures resemble a devastated city following an air raid by enemy planes during war-time. But the panic, frenzy, and bewilderment of residents of Long Beach and other affected areas, as they experienced this sudden, unforeseen catastrophe, can only be left to imagination. Mothers screaming as they ran into the streets, seeking to protect their young against harm from the convulsing earth—crumbling buildings to the ground, like so many toy blocks on nursery room floors. The mental agony of menancing bursts of flames, sprouting upward in various sections of the city. The tortured shrieks of the injured, contrasting the calm stillness of the dead. The tragic plight of the sick confined to beds—unable to leave. Prisoners caged in iron-bound cells, cursing intermingled with prayers—beating their breasts in terror—hardly tearing at solid bars that forbade chance of escape from the tumbling debris.

HUSBANDS separated from wives and children—experiencing hours of a living hell until they could be safely united, or learn the verdict of fate's impartial decree. The nerve racking strain of repeated tremors. That inspiring sight, as Uncle Sam's sailors and marines from the Pacific feet calmly and bravely took over the relief and guard duties.

Southern California has suffered a nightmare of destruction. But her loyal native sons have already undertaken the work of rebuilding the place they love to all its former grandeur. From the rest of the nation is extended heartfelt sympathy to Californians in their sad hour. All glory in their spunk and love of their own section of these United States.

MANY San Antonians, while waiting for delayed telegraphic communications from relatives and friends in Long Beach due to over taxed wire facilities, secured detailed and first-hand information of conditions by tuning in on Los Angeles and Hollywood broadcasting stations.

Listening in on Hollywood past midnight, our time, we heard bulletins, Red Cross and other relief organizations appeal for blankets, coats, and issue instructions for volunteer workers to assemble for immediate field duty. An official police order warned sightseers and the morbid curious that it might be easy to get into Long Beach territory, but police would make it hard for those not having business there to get out again.

To those who had loved ones in the stricken area, word was broadcast that everything possible was being done to relieve suffering and expert medical attention was being afforded to all injured victims.

There is a campaign under way in Texas to have the gasoline tax reduced. One of the largest petroleum companies has printed a little card that is distributed by the gasoline dealers. It reads:

Do you realize that at the present rate of taxation you pay a state gasoline tax of 4 cents and a federal tax of 1 cent, making a total of 5 cents for each gallon of gasoline you buy. Out of each 10 gallons, 50 cents represents tax you pay. Gasoline is the most heavily taxed commodity you buy. Every day you share in paying $1,500,000 gasoline tax!

In San Antonio first grade gasoline sells for 16 cents, including the above quoted taxes.

BEER FOR MISSISSIPPI
(Gulfport Guide)

THERE are many matters of more moment but even then some concerted action should be initiated in Mississippi to repeal the 18th Amendment.

Our convention should be called and the machinery put into operation to give Mississippians an opportunity to voice their convictions.

For whatever reason an extraordinary session of our legislature may be called, it should revamp state statutes to coincide with the action of Congress in modifying the Volstead Act.

At least Mississippians should not be denied their wine and beer. Our peculiar salubrious climate lends itself ideally to these popular beverages.

And when dog-days come and a sluggish liver depresses one's spirits and one's collar melts and his ardor dampens, what more invigorating than a stein of ale in the shade of a camphor tree?

Crabs and shrimp are given a new flavor and a new zest with a bottle on the side, and we should not be forced to depend upon the uncertainties of home-brew experiments to quench temperate thirsts.

We may have the best drinking water on earth but with New Orleans on one side and Mobile on the other, Federal repeal and state inaction could reduce this resort into a recreational desert.

Whatever the rest of Mississippi does the Coast wants to create an oasis beside the sea where men can drink a mint-julep or glass of wine with a clear conscience.

Spring pops in bursting bud and song of bird. As the days grow longer and warmer how much magic a mug of beer could work to help us weather this period of frozen assets and melting liabilities.

Mississippi, the first state to ratify the 18th Amendment, ought not be the last to ratify the 20th.

ALMOND MEAL PACK.

THIS is a very good pack, as it is not only bleaching but is refining to the skin.

To three teaspoons of almond meal, add one teaspoon of peroxide and enough witchhazel to make a paste.

Cleanse your face with cream. Remove the cleansing cream and apply the pack. Leave on until it commences to burn. Remove with lukewarm water, dry the face, rub in tissue cream and continue rubbing gently until the skin absorbs it. Remove surplus cream and follow by sponging the face with cleansing lotion, then apply witchhazel and make up.

Some skins cannot stand the almond meal. If this is the case with yours, try the magnesia pack which I will tell you about next week.

A bleach pack is never applied to eyebrows, lids, lips or nostrils.

FARMERS LOOKING AHEAD.

WITH the turn of events at our Nation's Capitol at Washington, D. C., during the past two weeks there seems to be a more optimistic feeling toward the future of our country, industrially and agriculturally. The removal of fear and restoring of confidence in business in general, is not confined altogether to the city merchant and business men—farmers looking to the future for their families are taking a renewed interest in their farm program.

Within the past week the writer has talked with a large number of farmers regarding their program, and present indications point to a larger acreage to feed and food crops in Hancock County than has been planted any previous year, especially in this true regard to planting of soy beans as a hay crop for cattle.

Soy beans will also replace the velvet bean in many corn fields. Some farmers will plant two rows of corn and one row of soy beans, and cut the beans for hay in the event their other hay crop fails; others will plant soy beans in every row of corn and between hills of corn to be "hogged" or grazed off with cattle. The Biloxi variety of soy bean will be used in planting in corn, while for the hay alone, the O-to-tan or Laredo varieties will be used.

The soy bean in addition to its feed value is one of our best summer legumes and is a good soil builder, and farmers looking to the production of crops on the most economic basis realize they must enrich their soil by growing legumes and plowing under. When this is done the commercial fertilizers used give better results. Soy bean seed are cheaper this season than for a number of years, the price ranging from $1.20 to $1.60 per bushel depending upon variety and quantity purchased.

Strawberry growers are giving thought to selecting of ground to be set to plants this fall. In most

It is further ordered that a refund in the sum of $4.50 be made to the said purchaser out of the General County Fund covering the amount paid for said property at said tax sale.

Whereas A. F. Horkohl has petitioned this Board for a refund in the sum of $13.20 the same being the amount of privilege license paid for license number 33098 in Hancock County, and

Whereas it is necessary for said A. F. Horkohl to purchase a bus license for said automobile direct from the State auditor and he having purchased license number 229.

Be it therefore ordered that warrant in the sum of $13.20 be paid to said A. F. Horkohl out of the Road Protection Bond Fund.

Be it ordered by the Board that the Board adjourn until Friday morning, March 10th, A. D. 1933 at 9 o'clock A. M.

Friday morning, March 10th, A. D. 1933, at 9 o'clock, A. M., Board met pursuant to adjournment, present as on yesterday.

It is also ordered that judgment nisi be entered against said Emilio Cue for the sum of $25.00 being $5.00 per day for 5 days absent and judgment nisi be entered against Lander Necaise for $25.00 being $5.00 per day for 5 days.

cases where new land is not available, the ground selected for fall setting of berry plants will be planted to velvet beans. Iron or Brahman peas early in May to be plowed under as a humus crop this fall, 3 to 4 weeks before time to set plants. Experienced strawberry growers will avoid planting field peas of varieties other than those mentioned above which are immune to nematode or eel worm.

The unusual amount of rainfall together with low temperatures in February, and in many instances, poor drainage, which retarded plant growth, the strawberry crop will not begin to move in volume for several days yet. The acreage to be set to strawberry plants in this county this fall will largely be determined by results from this season's crops to move within next few weeks.

Relieves Women's Pains

Here is an example of how Cardui has helped thousands of women: "I was very thin and pale," writes Mrs. F. H. Scott, of Roanoke, Va. "I suffered from weakness and a severe pain in my back. This pain unnered me, and I did not feel like my work. I did not care to go places and felt worn, tired, day after day."

"My mother had taken Cardui, and on seeing my condition she advised me to try it. I have never regretted doing so. I gained in weight, my color was better and the pain left my back. I am stronger than I had been in some time."

Cardui is sold by local druggists.

SPECIAL ELECTION APRIL 18, 1933

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

S. J. A. CELEBRATES PATRONAL FEAST.

This year the Feast of St. Joseph was celebrated on the twentieth of March instead of the nineteenth. The classes at S. J. A. made special preparations for this feast in the form of a Novena of prayers, which were recited daily at ten o'clock in the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf. In addition to this the majority of the Children of Mary made a Triduum of Masses and Holy Communion preparatory to the feast.

The whole student body, practically one hundred per cent, strong, assembled in church at 7:30 Monday morning to sing the Mass which was celebrated in honor of St. Joseph.

The school was dismissed for the rest of the day.

CANDIDATES FOR GULF COAST LITERARY EXAMINATIONS.

Saturday March 25 is the date examinations which will be given in Biloxi. The following girls will represent S. J. A. in the subjects enumerated.

Chemistry—Miss Evelyn Nix.

Third Year Latin—Miss Alice Camors.

Modern History—Miss Lois Wolf.

Composition—Miss Joyce Wolf.

S. J. A. will also send contestants for two of the Platform Events.

Miss Bernice Johnson for Piano and the Misses Catherine Scafide, Francis Scafide, Pearl Roby and Delta Lizana for the vocal quartet.

GULF COAST TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

S. J. A. will also be represented in the Gulf Coast Tennis Tournament.

Lois Wolf will play in the single contest and Joyce Wolf and Alice Camors will form a team for the doubles. This is S. J. A.'s second attempt in the Gulf Coast Tournament. The girls named above represented her last year and they conducted themselves most creditably. We are hoping still greater things of them this year.

SODALISTS OF THE GULF COAST MEET IN S. J. A. MEMORIAL HALL.

On Monday night, March 20th, there was held at the S. J. A. Memorial Hall a Symposium on Sacred Music. The opening number of the program was the singing of the Sodality Song by all the Sodality members, followed by several interesting talks by the representatives of the different Catholic Schools of the Coast.

The history of the Sacred Music was related to us by Miss Audrey Seymour of the Sacred Heart Convent, Biloxi; Miss Evelyn Nix of St. Joseph's Academy, Bay St. Louis; introduced us to the different phases of Greek Sacrifices. The learned of the Religion of the Druids from Miss Mildred McLaughlin, Saint Joseph's Academy of Pass Christian and Miss Anna Favre, Convent of Mercy, Gulfport, also gave an interesting talk on Jewish Sacrifices. Last, but not least on the program was an explanation of the Mass by Edmond Fahey, St. Stanislaus, Bay St. Louis. His talk was accompanied by beautiful colored slides illustrating that greatest of all holocausts, the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

Father Fahey was the able chairman of this Symposium and his brief introduction and clear explanatory comment of each speaker's paper went far towards making the Symposium the success that it was.

Father Mulry, S. J., who has been a most zealous friend of Sodality, and to whom much credit is due for the spread of the Sodality in the South was also present at this Symposium. He spoke a few words at the close of the "Rally" and he praised the work now being done by the Gulf Coast Union. At the suggestion of Father Fahey a rising vote of thanks was given to Bro. Edmond of St. Stanislaus to whom the Gulf Coast Union is greatly indebted for the help and support which he has given it.

S. J. A. PREPARES FOR FIELD EVENTS.

The Gold Jays are busy now trying to convert themselves into track stars. They are trying their skill at racing and jumping. Nothing has been done this week beyond accustoming themselves to track shoes and no records have as yet been broken, but the Field Meet is not to take place till April 8 and the Gold Jays have time yet to show themselves.

WITH THE CHILDREN OF MARY.

Last Friday at 2:30 the Children of Mary held their regular meeting—the greater part of this session was taken up with planning for the National Vocation Week which is being conducted during this current week, March 19-26 under the auspices of the Queen's Work.

It was decided that speakers from the outside should be asked to give talks on the chief vocations or the states of life; namely, the wedded, the professional and the religious state. These talks are to take place on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 2:30 p. m. Monday being a holiday was left vacant, while Friday was reserved for an "open forum" discussion on "Vocations" by the Sodality themselves.

Committees were appointed to interview the various speakers suggested and to solicit their cooperation. All Sodality members were urged to hear Mass and to receive Holy Communion frequently during this "Vocation Week," for after all the choosing of one's vocation is a most important matter since experience has proven that it is really the happy or unhappy choice of a career that either "makes or breaks" the individual.

In connection with the Queen's Work contest for the selection of the twelve most famous American Catholic women of the past century the names of 12 possible candidates were put before the Sodality. Miss Laura Quinn gave a short sketch of the life of Mother Seton, founder of the Sisters of Charity. Other such sketches will be considered at the next meeting. At three o'clock the meeting adjourned with a closing prayer.

BLUE JAYS DEFEATED BY WAVELAND.

The Blue Jays, S. J. A.'s grammar team met the Waveland cagers last Thursday night in a well contested game. The Blue Jays put up a splendid fight but were unable to take the lead from the Waveland girls. The game ended with a score of 29-18 in favor of the opposing team. In spite of their defeat we are proud of our Blue Jays and considering the fact that this was their first and only game this season we feel quite satisfied with the result of their efforts and what is more to the point we are assured of some promising material for our future high school teams.

PENNY WISE....

And Pound Foolish

IN every home and every business the economy cry is heard and heeded. The problem of making both ends meet justifies every saving. But there is such a thing as a penny wise and pound foolish economy.

We can eliminate lights, strain children's eyes and impair their vision—we can cut out street lights and stumble in gutters—we can darken show windows and make good stores uninviting.

Current should never be wasted. It should be used to improve the efficiency of the child, the homemaker and the business man. Light, wisely used, is not a luxury and false economy is always penny wise and pound foolish.
